

RESEARCH & DEVELOPMENT

Platipus works at the leading edge of ground anchoring and to remain market leaders requires continuous development in product innovation and design.

New and unique applications for our products are constantly being introduced. Working closely with our Clients, Distributors and our own Regional Manager's new system designs are continually introduced into the market.

